Pastor's Column

We are back from our journey to Central America. The nine weeks my family spent in Guatemala and El Salvador were filled with wonderful as well as sobering moments. We hiked through beautiful cloud forests, saw spectacular birds and butterflies, visited Mayan villages filled with people dressed in their traditional colorful attire, and worshiped with people whose Christian faith is profound and transformative. In our journey we also witnessed suffering, poverty, and need, heard stories of tragic injustice, and met with people who endeavor against great odds to alleviate the suffering in their communities. Sometimes our journey was filled with excitement—such as zip-cording over the treetops from one side of a ravine to the other. And a lot of the time our journey included ho-hum moments of ordinary life: shopping for groceries, doing the laundry, cooking dinner.

At one point in our trip, when we were standing ankle-deep in mud on a jungle hillside, straining to catch a glimpse of the elusive, endangered, and spectacularly beautiful national bird of Guatemala, the resplendent quetzal, I wondered how it came to be that I should find myself there. How did my life's journey bring me to that place? My husband's own professional journey took him to Central America. He then wanted to share that with the rest of the family. It was my son's passion for birds, which brought the rest of the family on a journey to discover something rare and beautiful. And those different "journeys" converged in that moment, on that muddy hillside. I realized how important other people are in leading us down the various "journeys" of our lives—the physical, emotional, and spiritual journeys we find ourselves upon.

The life of faith is often compared to a journey. There are exciting moments, sorrowful moments, boring moments, and ordinary moments. Through it all, we profess the belief that God travels with us in all these "journeys" of life. So too does the community of faith—the Church. We gather each week to worship God and to share a journey we find meaningful. We lead each other on pathways we never might have taken on our own. We challenge each other to consider new points of view. We encourage one another to take up important ministries. We accompany one another on the painful journeys and celebrate with one another the joys.

I look forward to this new "program year" we are entering and to discovering the new journeys which God may use you to lead all the rest of us upon.

Shalom,
Tracy

FOOD PANTRY BY THE NUMBERS

Each month, the UPC Food Pantry submits a report to the Food Bank of Western New York, indicating how many households were served during the month, and how many individuals make up those households. We share these statistics with our congregation, which provides such generous support to our pantry, both in time and in donations.

Anyone interested in volunteering one afternoon a month at the Pantry can call Gerry Grisante at 835-0433.

Saturday, September 25th

10:00 am - 12:00 noon

This workshop, the first in a series, will provide ideas about how to make your home safe from intruders, and common sense ideas for personal safety as we move around our community. It will also include making your home safe inside from spills and falls.

The workshop is free and open to the public. We encourage church members to attend and bring friends and neighbors who might be interested.

Congratulations

Ben Hickey has accepted a position as Curator of Collections and Exhibitions at the Masur Museum of Art in Monroe, Louisiana. (Check out the museum on their website <http://masurmuseum.org>). Ben graduated two years ago with his Master's Degree in Art History and has been employed most recently at the Albright Knox Art Gallery.

Monroe is located in north central Louisiana, about 200 miles north of New Orleans on the Ouachita River. Yes, they have bayous and alligators! Ben, his wife, Alexa, and 1-year old son, Mac moved in August. Needless to say, they will be missed by Grandma Cindy and Aunt Jerilyn. Our prayers are with them as they begin a new and exciting chapter in their lives.

Stone Soup Campaign

Do you remember the tale of Stone Soup? Three weary soldiers trudged into a village in search of a bed for the night and a bit of food. The peasants, fearful of strangers and with barely enough for themselves, hid what food there was in order to convince the soldiers to move on. One of the soldiers declared: "We are three hungry soldiers in a strange land. We have asked you for food, and you have no food. Well then, we'll have to make stone soup!"

Intrigued, the peasants eagerly gathered 'round as the soldiers called for a fire to be built and a large pot filled with water and a few stones. Then, cleverly, the soldiers began to ask for small additions: "Stones like these generally make good soup. But oh, if there were carrots it would be much better". Well, one of the peasants thought she could manager "a carrot or two". And so it continued until the soup was full of all sorts of vegetables, barley and beef – each small offering provided by different town folk. What a feast they had! They ate and drank and ate and drank. And after that they danced and sang far into the night. In the morning the whole village gathered in the square to give the soldiers a send-off. "Many thanks for what you have taught us," the peasants said to the soldiers. "We shall never go hungry, now that we know how to make soup from stones."

And so, the villagers learned just how much can be accomplished when each person gives a little – whether it be their time or their treasure – and in coming together as a group they were far better able to overcome an obstacle than if they tried to tackle it themselves.

Over the past few months, Session has had an ongoing discussion about our current financial situation. While it is not yet dire, we are continuing to run a deficit budget and we know this is not a sustainable model. At the same time we have tremendous assets in the dedicated members of our congregation, a beautiful building, an active community presence and a prime location. Thus we would like to invite each of you to join the conversation, beginning with a Congregational Meeting following the 11:00 a.m. service on Sunday, September 19, 2010. We will discuss the current 2010 budget, kick off the "Stone Soup Campaign" and do some brainstorming around how we can continue to grow as a steadfast community of faith. Please join us!
